

A watercolor illustration depicting a volcanic eruption. In the background, a volcano is shown with a massive, vertical plume of red and orange lava or ash rising into a pale, hazy sky. The volcano's slopes are dark and smoky. In the middle ground, a white lighthouse with a blue-tinted tower and a lantern room stands on a rocky, dark shore. The lighthouse has a small square window and a door. The foreground shows the dark, jagged rocks of the coastline meeting a calm blue sea. The overall style is soft and painterly, with visible brushstrokes and a muted color palette.

LOS VOLCANES DE LA PALMA

Una aproximación histórica

JUAN CARLOS DÍAZ LORENZO